

OPEN CALL

Short Scientific Visits for Early Stage Researchers

European Forest Institute (EFI) offers 10 grants for Short Scientific Visits (SSV) for Early Stage Researchers from EFI Associate and Affiliate Member organisations. This is a unique opportunity to get involved in international level forest research and research co-operation.

The aims of a SSV are to contribute to the scientific objectives of EFI and to strengthen the EFI network by allowing young scientists to:

1. gain experience of working in a different organisation in another European country,
2. foster collaboration, and
3. learn a new technique, methods or tools not available in their own institution.

In addition, the successful grantees will be offered a possibility to participate in the 2020 Young Researcher Challenge (<http://mwp.org/yr/>) of the prestigious Marcus Wallenberg Prize event in Stockholm.

The SSVs should take place between 1 July 2019 and 30 April 2020

The deadline for applications is 27 March 2019, 15:00 CET.

More on how to apply: <https://www.efi.int/careers/ssv>
